Vol. IX, No. 42. The County Seat Paper. NEVADA CITY, CALIFORNIA The GOLD Center FRIDAY, MARCH 29, 1935.

Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

Nevada County has prospered under the New Deal and undoubtedly will continue to prosper long after the New Deal has been merged with the Old Deal—merged or submerged—it is too early yet to tell which. W. Averell Harriman, polo player and multimillionaire, at the head of the NRA would indicate submergence.

And speaking of New Deal prosperity, no spot on the map is quite as prosperous as Washington, D. C. where the police have closed 150 gambling joints and do not know how many others are running full blast. Gamblers flock to the place where easy money is most plentiful, whether its Cripple Creek, Dawson, Virginia City, or our beautiful capitol, Washington, D. C. The armies mustered by the New Deal must have their recreation.

Labor organizations must have made some very close decisions these days. Militant labor leaders are turning their heavy guns on the proposal in the legislature to create a state constabulary along the lines of the State Traffic Patrol and to relegate our county sheriffs to strictly civil functions. These leaders assume that the proposed state constaublary would be used to break up "peaceful" strikes.

As a matter of fact the "peaceful" strike is a rara avis. There have been mighty few strikes of any importance that have not been accompanied by violence. Whether it is the state guardsmen or the state constabulary which puts an end to these civil wars, is not very material to the present debate.

There is plenty to be said, however, against further concentration of power in the hands of either state or federal executives. While concentration might bring economies for some years, in the long run, any increase in the public payroll will mount in geometrical progression. Names appended to governmental payrolls stick there like horse leeches.

No doubt if the sheriffs of California would accept clerical and civil duties as proposed and the logical decrease in remuneration which such duties imply, without a vociferous appeal to the people. And since, of all public officials, the sheriffs lead the van of popularity, it is extremely doubtful whether any salary paring could be effected.

The object to be attained by creating a state constabulary, swift apprehension of criminals, can probably be attained by greater number of county sheriffs and municipal police departments, a co-ordination which would erase county boundaries so far as the pursuit of criminals is concerned and permit any peace officer to make an arrest anywhere in the state. Criminals, like gold are where you find them, and they should be taken when and where found regardless of state or county boundaries. Some reform of this kind will probably enacted by the legislature, and the constabulary, which has proved so successful in New York, for instance, will wait awhile.

The foregoing discussion brings the thought that the American people today are endeavoring mightily to walk in the middle of the road and at the same time to get somewhere. On the one hand is the comparatively small group of the very wealthy who seek such innovations as a state constabulary which they instinctively feel will help maintain the old order. Anything that modifies the old order is painted a bright red and labeled "Communism." On the other hand is a very large group who never had anything of material goods or money, augmented by a few millions of those whom the depression has robbed of what little they had. These paint anything proposed—in the way of maintaining the old order—black, and labels it "Fascism."

Between these two hostile and rampant groups stands the small home owner, the man with a job, and a stake in his country's future. There are millions in this category, and upon their shoulders falls the burden of maintaining the national peace, the national balance, and preserving national sanity and ideals. It is this group that plods steadily forward along the middle of the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Elkus of this city were recent business visitors in Oakland.

S. F. Airdrome Flight To This City in April

Sometime during the latter part of April the San Francisco Bay Airdrome Ltd., squadrons will drone overhead on their way to pay Nevada City a visit. The Airdrome is an association of amateur pilots and plane owners who make week end excursions to all parts of California and Nevada.

Tentative arrangements for this event were made yesterday by U. R. St. John, manager of the Airdrome, who landed at Nevada City Airport yesterday, called on former Mayor R. J. Bennetts and promised that when the day was set six or eight planes conveying about 25 persons would visit this city in one of their flights.

The event of the visit of these planes is made a gala occasion wherever they visit. The Chamber of Commerce usually takes over the pleasant duty of host and the members of the flight are shown all the scenic and historic places in the vicinity and are royally entertained. The city council and other civic organizations usually assist in entertaining the visitors.

Following on the heels of Mr. St. John's visit to Nevada City yesterday morning, a long distance phone call apprised Mr. Bennetts that Lieutenant Robert L. Campbell, assistant state airport supervisor, and Hugh Brewster, Federal aeronautical inspector, were on their way to the airport. Mr. Bennetts, accompanied by Mrs. Bennetts and George Calahan greeted the two aviators shortly after they landed at the airport at 6 o'clock.

Lieut. Campbell stated that every effort is being made to obtain further Federal aid in completing the Nevada City airport. It must be covered heavily with crushed rock impregnated with oil and weed killer. Campbell and Brewster spent the night in Nevada City and after conferring with city officials and visiting Grass Valley this morning will return to San Francisco.

They arrived last evening in a natty orange and black monoplane belonging to the U. S. Department of Commerce. The cabin accomodates two and their luggage.

WYOMING TRIBE TO END HORSE SHOE TOURNEY

Wyoming Tribe of Red Men of this city have one more game to play in their horse shoe tournament with Weimer Tribe of Grass Valley to complete the series. The winning team will be treated to a turkey dinner.

While Wyoming Tribe is working hard to carry off the honors George Falmbigl, Nevada City Red Man, and chef, is having a hard time to find the turkey to suit both teams. The Grass Valley boys prefer a fat, juicy bird, while it has been hinted the local team wants a long, slim, old Tom turkey.

SHERIFFS OPPOSE BILL TO CROWD COUNTY JAILS

SACRAMENTO, March 28.—County sheriffs are protesting S. B. 933, McGovern, a bill they claim will increase the populations in county jails "to the bursting point."

The bill would permit persons convicted of such felonies as robbery, forgery, lewd and lascivious conduct, and grand theft to be sentenced to the county jail as well as to the penitentiaries.

"The Sacramento county jail is full enough now without new prisoners being forced on us for one-year terms," Sheriff Cox asserted. "County jails don't pretend to be prisons and I am afraid there would be continued escapes as well as overcrowding and increase in county jail expenses."

Sheriff Cox said the sheriff's association is actively campaigning against the bill.

Mr. and Mrs. O. McCraney had as guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Landsborough and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Rohl, and two small sons, all of Sacramento. Mrs. McCraney and Mrs. Landsborough are sisters.

FIGHT PROVES EXPENSIVE

Fines of $50 were paid by Jerry Haley and Robert Householder who were found guilty by a jury on Monday of charges of assault and battery. They were fined $25 each for each offense by Justice of the Peace W. L. Mobley. The men were charged with beating Tony Vrthneick on March 5, at the apartment of John Mulliken on Pine street.

TRINITY GUILD

MUNICIPAL PARK WORK ADVANCES

No pause in the work of improving the municipal park is anticipated according to city officials. Thus far there has been no notice of ceasing SERA work with the first of April and registration of workers continues.

The foundation for the community house in the park fronting on Nimrod street a half block above the swimming pool will be practically completed this week. It is proposed to build it along the same lines of the same material as the change house at the swimming pool.

Rock ballast for the road which winds through the park from Nimrod street to Park Avenue is about fifty percent completed.

A rustic outdoor fire place is being built of stone and cement in the upper end of the park in a beautiful grove a few feet from Little Deer Creek. The waters of this stream have been diverted into the new channel along the eastern boundary of the park. Foot paths have been completed and bridges built through the wooded sections.

HEARING ON HYDRAULIC DAMS SET FOR APRIL 15

Dispatches from Washington, D. C., state that Representative Harry L. Englebright of Nevada City reports the army board of engineers has set April 15 for hearing appeals from the unfavorable report made by Colonel T. H. Jackson on federal construction of hydraulic mining dams on the American, Yuba and Bear rivers.

Englebright said he would present the case of the California miners and probably some witnesses would go to Washington from the region involved.

PROPOSED LAW BEARS DOWN ON DRUNK DRIVERS

SACRAMENTO, March 38.—Superior court juries will have more latitude in punishing persons who cause deaths through negligent operation of an automobile or drunken driving if the legislature adopts A. B. 147, Stream, which was approved yesterday by the assembly committee on crime problems.

Assemblyman Stream declared the manslaughter penalty is too hard to obtain because of the severe penitentiary penalty it carries. His bill would permit the jury to assess fines between $500 and $10,000, a county jail term of 90 days to one year, or a state prison term of from one to three years.

The same committee also gave favorable consideration to A. B. 128, Utt, making theft of 100 pounds or more of avocados a felony.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Heether left yesterday for the Grant Heether sawmill near Camptonville in which they are interested. Mr. Heether underwent a severe operation several months ago and they have been residing in their home in Nevada City while he was recovering.

CONSTABLE SPORTS EYE-FILLING BADGE

"Better and bigger badges" for Nevada City are becoming the mode. Constable Bill Jeffery is now sporting a solid gold badge that, when he throws out his chest, can be seen from the top of Broad street as far as the plaza. It is a noble escutcheon and should smite the eyes of evil doers and fill them with terror. Constable Jeffery says that the law must be respected and nothing inculcates that respect like an eye-dazzling ensignia burgeoning on his chest. Moreover this golden beacon has an interesting history. It has subdued riots among the '49ers, quelled early Chinese uprisings, pursued horse thieves, witnessed hangings of Argonaut gunmen, and has headed parades of E Clampus Vitus. If the badge had a voice it would probably speak disdainfully of its present functions, such as bidding hoboes a fond farewell at the city limits, escorting inebriated auto drivers to the calaboose, presenting writs of this, that and the other thing to those who shrink from saying "good morning, Judge," and a host of other minor services that in the brave days of yore were unheard of.

HEY, SKINNEY! GET YER PETS READY TO SHOW

Plans are going forward nicely for the Grammar School P. T. A. Pet Show which has been planned for the first week in May. Mrs. E. T. Bonner was appointed chairman at large and has mapped out a program that interest children and adults as well.

Members of the Program Committee are: Mrs. E. T. Bonner, chairman; Mrs. Clark McGinnis, Mrs. Mabel Flindt, L. E. Sweeney, and Mrs. Leland Smith.

Popsicle Committee: Mrs. George Woods, chairman; Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Larson Henwood and Mrs. Green.

The plans are different from last year in that each organization sponsored by the Grammar School P. T. A. which are Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds, will be asked for programs. The Seventh and Eighth Grades are also to enter a literary contest. Each pupil will write an article on pets. A committee will be appointed to select the best article, this to be read at the show and an award being made for this, the best story.

Pets are being groomed and gotten in readiness for the big show and parade which is to be larger and better than last year.

ELKS BOWLING TOURNEY WON BY CURNOW TEAM

The fifth tournament of the Elks bowling team was brought to a close Thursday evening with the Curnow team leading by 14 points, the Scheemer team being the runner up with 12 points. It is expected the new tournament will get under way next Monday evening.

Attendance has held up well in the six teams playing in the tournaments and a number of fine scores have been made by individual members.

GRACEY-GLENCOE MINE

L. W. Cheney, who is operating the Gracey-Glencoe mine south-east of Nevada City, has made several tests with the four newly installed flotation cells in the last few days, and is preparing to make some more adjustments, it is reported. A considerable quantity of ore showing good values has been mined and is ready for treating as soon as the new machinery is installed.

CCC Camps Will Be Maintained; But New Enrollees Must Wait

SACRAMENTO, March 28.—Civilian Conservation Corps officials in the Sacramento district last night received orders from Washington to continue after Saturday even though the corps will expire legally at midnight—failing passage of the $4,800,000,000 work bill.

Recruiting officers, however, were told to defer enlistment of replacements for enrollees whose terms expire March 31 pending enactment of the long delayed measure.

Effect of the orders will be that the camps will continue to operate under present schedule with all the workers now enrolled being given opportunity to re-enlist with the understanding salaries will depend on action by congress.

Major Charles McCarthy, commander of the Sacramento district said the 5,750 enrollees and 120 officers in the district will receive food, medical attention and "necessary services," but salaries will not be paid after March 31 until congress takes action. There are 30 camps in the district.

CCC MAN PERISHES IN FIRE

Mrs. Peggy Flynn was in receipt of a letter yesterday from the captain of the CCC camp near Visalia giving particulars as to the death of her cousin, Herbert E. Smith, in a hotel fire in Visalia, a week ago. Mr. Smith was a company clerk for the CCC camp and well beloved by all in camp. He was an overseas veteran and leaves a wife in Sacramento who was the former Don Godfrey of Nevada City.

NATIVE SONS TO WELCOME KOENIG

Many Nevada City Native Sons will attend the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the Quartz Parlor in Grass Valley tomorrow night.

Mike Brock, chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the celebration, has announced George Koenig, president of the grand parlor, will be a guest. Koenig is a San Francisco resident.

The Quartz Parlor has invited the lodge members from Auburn, Sacramento, Marysville, Downieville, Sierra City, and Oroville, to attend the event.

A banquet will be served and special entertainment provided. Assisting Brock in making the plans for the anniversary celebration are Stanley Woolcock, Jack Thoms, John E. Nettle, president of Quartz Parlor and Robert Koehler, district deputy.

DONATION DAY WILL BE APRIL 12

The Nevada City Benevolent Society announces Friday, April 12 as the day chosen for Donation Day. The executive board of the society consists of Mrs. George Calanan, president, Mrs. W. P. Sawyer, Mrs. H. H. Buckner and Miss Minnie Brand vice presidents, Mrs. Belle Douglass, treasurer, and Miss Winnie Mulloy, secretary.

Howard Penrose has been chosen as grand marshall for the day and will have charge of arrangements. The members request the usual generous donations and more, too, for there was no donation day last year.

CONTRACTS LET FOR CITY HALL IN GRASS VALLEY

A contract for the construction of Grass Valley's city hall was let by the city council Wednesday evening to Paul I. Jenks, president of the Nevada County Builders Exchange on his low bid of $19,291. There were four other bidders.

The new municipal building will stand at Stewart and East Main streets, Grass Valley. It will contain offices for the city officials, a council room, fire department quarters, city jail and storage rooms.

DEATH SUMMONS MRS. THOMAS BATH

Mrs. Thomas Bath, for many years a resident of the Newton district, succumbed Wednesday at the county hospital. She was a native of England, 78 years of age. Her husband survives her. In her long residence in this county she had made many friends who will grieve to hear of her passing. Funeral services will be in charge of the Holmes-Hooper Funeral home in Grass Valley.

Mrs. D. B. Davis returned Wednesday from San Francisco where she had gone to attend the funeral of her brother, Fred Bates, who passed away in Dixon. He was a disabled veteran of the World War and was given a beautiful funeral service by the V. F. W. Sunday evening. Burial was made Monday morning in the Presidio.

LAST RITES FOR GEORGE CLUTTER

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 for the late George Clutter. Rev. Samuel Tamblyn of Meridian conducted the services which were held under the direction of the Holmes Funeral Home. The Elks conducted the grave side services.

George Clutter, a native of Nevada City was sixty years old. He died in Grass Valley Tuesday morning as the result of an infection following an injury in his right hand.

He was born in Nevada City in 1874. He attended the public schools here and later became associated with his father in the Clutter Carriage Shop. About twenty years ago he left Nevada City and subsequently lived in San Francisco, and later in Newcastle. Two years ago he returned to Nevada City and built a home on Boulder street.

Besides his wife, the former Evangeline Andrews whom he married in this city in 1909, he leaves his mother, Mrs. Mary Clutter of Nevada City and his sister Mrs. W. P. Jones, two nieces, Hazel and Mary Jones and a nephew, Harry Jones.

IF WAR COMES

If war comes, it will come in Europe or it will come in Asia. The United States should not be drawn into another war unless its own possessions are threatened.

Congress which sees war coming, as does every other intelligent group in the United States, has before it many measures to preserve this country from being thrust into other nation's wars. One of these measures would conscript wealth, just as man power is conscripted. This measure is proposed by the American Legion and should be enacted. Another would place an embargo on Americans leaving this country for the danger zones in foreign wars. These are two measures which would help to keep us out of other peoples' wars.

Better yet would be an embargo on money, munitions or goods of any kind to any nation while engaged in war. An enactment of this kind would probably do more to preserve world peace than any other single measure. Enacted now while the world is at peace, it would serve notice upon all the European war debt welchers, that Uncle Sam had learned his lesson, and that from now on they can count him out as an ally in any of their bloody adventures, whether as banker, munitioner or goods commissioner. Such a measure passed now would give us clean hands in whatever storm arose.

There are difficulties, of course, grave but not insurmountable. The question of serving neutrals in event of foreign war, is perhaps, the gravest. Serving Germany, the Scandinavian neutrals grew extremely rich during the World war, and much of Scandinavian buying for German importation was done in the United States.

However, if the United States were to limit its service to neutrals who loaded their cargo boats at American ports, instead of attempting to make deliveries in ships flying the United States flag, it seems probable that it could avoid trouble with belligerents.

The people of this country looking at Europe can readily see what befalls European belligerents. Germany, Italy and Austria are Fascist countries. The people are enslaved. Liberty as we know it is dead. Russia has gone Communist. The Russian people is enslaved. There is little to choose between the two slaveries. Both suffer dictatorship. In the United States, England and France, the democracies survive.

But will they survive another war?

ABOUT HOT AIR

(Contributed)

Is it true, the charge of other sections of the country, that we of California are about fifty per cent hot air?

The very thought is enough to set many of us to shouting facts and figures which prove California's leadership among the states in a great many important matters.

But when the shouting dies, the man who likes to face all the facts, even unpleasant ones, may step forward to point out that the picture is not complete, therefore false.

His addition to it will concern California's leadership in yet another matter—in the number of persons killed last year as a result of automobile accidents.

Only one state exceeded our toll of 2805 lives during 1934, and that was New York, with 2932. But the population of New York is more than twice California's, which means that drivers on our highways were twice as deadly.

If further proof of the unwanted leadership is needed, there is California's automobile death rate index, which stands at 45.8, compared to 14.3 for the nation.

Now, having faced the facts, what do we see in an analysis of them?

Of the 32,739 accidents during the year, 16,221 involved the collision of two machines; 9,275 the striking of pedestrians; 2,146 involved smashups against fixed objects; 440 were collisions with trains, and 2025 were non-collision accidents.

The conclusions, for the motorist, are fairly obvious.

It is for his genuine desire to wipe out the disgrace, that the state is now waiting.

The Pile of Debris

Trouble in the garden? Perhaps there's a reason.

'Twas on the pile of debris that I met her,
She was feline as feline could be;
There were empty tin cans lying round her
Where she sat on the pile of debris.
Oh, her hair it was ruffled and curly
And her eyes were as green as the sea,
But her glances and manners were surly
When we met on the pile of debris.

My master cried, "sic 'em—go git her!"
Then swiftly she turned upon me
And clawed when I tried to outwit her,
Till I howled on the pile of debris.
"You're an impudent puppy" she muttered,
"And ignorant to a degree,"
And so wild were the cat calls she uttered,
That I shrank from the pile of debris.

"But this is my dear master's garden,"
I woofed in a deep, rumbling key,
"And I am its authorized warden—
I'm doing my duty, you see."
With a paw on the scraps she'd been tasting,
She hissed her defiance at me,
"Your time puppy dog, you are wasting,
I'm holding the pile of debris."

"If your master hates cats in his garden,
Then run pup, and tell him for me,
To call off his woof, woofing warden
And bury the pile of debris."
Well, we cleaned up the spot where I found her,
But still in my bad dreams I see,
With empty tin cans lyin round her,
That—cat—on the pile of debris.

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

RELICS OF EARLY DAY FOUND BY GOLD PANNER

S. A. Webb, who has been panning on different streams in northern California since the spring of 1931 was a Nevada City visitor Monday from the South Yuba river bringing in his gold and nuggets to sell for provisions.

He stated that recently in digging at a 20-foot depth he found two Indian arrow heads, and in a seven foot hill he broke four or five square 6 inches tall, glass jars, finally taking out a whole one. They were spun glass and made in London. In his mining on the South Yuba he has found and saved about two pounds of old musket shot, buck shot and bird shot. The old musket balls are about one half inch through and were evidently fired by the early hunters. A great deal of babbit and lead is picked up in mine operations also. All these leaden missles are washed into the streams and are recovered with the gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Davis and son, Wesley Davis, and family of Sacramento spent the week end at their home in Willow Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tourtelotte of Big Creek spent several days at their new home also. Mrs. Davis has returned from a visit in Big Creek and Selma.

Miss Kate O'Connor and Miss Madden were called to Sacramento on account of the serious illness and death of Miss Margaret O'Connor.

LEGISLATIVE LETTER
by Graham Berry

WNU Service

Refusing to be buried, the corpse has climbed out of its coffin, wherein it was very emphatically laid, and has shaken its cadaverous fist at several legislators, causing them no little agitation as to the security of their positions.

Yes, the issue which has refused to rest in peace is the Townsend Old-Age Pension plan which the legislature grudgingly boosted last week by passing the resolution to memorialize congress to adopt it, hook, line and sinker. Enough support in the balky Senate was finally buldgeoned into line to favor the Merriam-supported resolution.

After finally getting rid of this issue by passing it on to congress, the legislature could settle down to some good, hard work on the tax program. This they did. By the end of last week, however, little had been accomplished save voting the governor's comparatively uncontested income tax bill out of the assembly revenue and taxation committee. This bill provides a revenue rate equal to one-third the federal tax rate.

In the Assembly is the Epic Democrat income measure which provides for the raising of a mere $50,000,000. Merriam's bill is calculated to net $17,500,000. The Epic bill seems to have lost the Progressive Republican support that it counted on. Little hope is held for the measure.

There is a strong feeling at the Capitol that Merriam's sales tax proposition is due for a fall. Many observers feel that the tax will be kept at its present rate, exempting food from the levy. This will be a nice compromise, Merriam demanding three per cent for the new tax and the Epicites insisting that the tax be abolished, lowered, or what have you, with clothing up to $25 and food exempted.

If the present two and one-half per cent rate is maintained and food cut from the list of taxables, Merriam's budget plans will go awry, as he has counted on income from this source. The bill will bring in considerably less than its present $80,000,000 income.

Approval of the Townsend bill memorial apparently did not mean, however, that the "corpse" was shipped on to Washington. It is well-known that many of the politicians, including several of the administration higher-ups, feared the wrath of a Townsend-minded public if they ignored the bill.

This fear was not without some backing, as petitions are already being circulated to recall six prominent state senators who opposed it. Senator William F. Knowland, Alameda; Bradford Crittenden, Stockton; Culbert L. Olson, Los Angeles, who have been working overtime to find a solution to the state's perplexing financial problems, are said to be harassed because of petitions being circulated to have them recalled.

In other senatorial districts, those of Charles Deuel, Chico; J. I. Wagy, Bakersfield; Walter Duval, Ventura, recall petitions are well on the way. The senators under fire, while naturally concerned, do not believe the activity will go too far.

"If the people in my district are fixing mental dishonesty as the price for holding office," said one senator, "then they had better recall me. Let them look elsewhere if they want fakers in the legislature."

Those behind the recall petitions are known to be Townsendites.

It is none too encouraging for the senators to learn that Howard S. Merriam, member of the Oregon legislature, was recently recalled for his opposition to the $200-a-month pension idea.

Senator Herbert W. Slater declares, however, that there is not one member of either house, whether he voted for or against the plan, that does not approve of some reasonable old-age pension. The senator added that if politics had been left out of the issue, this fact would be much better understood.

The mail at this legislative session is heavier than at any other. Practically every legislator receives between 50 and 100 letters a day, and a score or more of telegrams. Much of this correspondence has concerned itself with the Townsend issue, communications either strongly favoring, or strongly disfavoring the plan. There have been no lukewarm messages touching on it.

This particular issue and the road consolidation plan of the governor's have held up some of the outstanding problems confronting the legislature. This has meant day and night sessions to catch up. Committees have been meeting at all hours when the legislature was not in session. Legislators have been working on an average of sixteen hours a day.

Road Bill Dubious

Although the administration has been putting up a stiff fight on all fronts, it apparently has been unable to convince the roads and highways committee that its road consolidation program would save money for the taxpayers. At least, there is considerable opposition to the plan, especially in the senate committee, where Senator Nelson T. Edwards, chairman, believes that the measure is doomed.

"At first," he said, "I thought there might be a chance for the program to get out of committee, but that it would be defeated on the senate floor.

"After talking with members I do not believe the plan has a chance to win committee approval."

The roads and highways committees of the two houses have gone through the formalities of holding hearings on the plan, reserving their vote for a later time.

NUGGET ADVERTISING PAYS

The senate committee proposes to act on the senate highway inclusion bill, of which Senator George Bigger of Mendicino County is the author, in executive meeting next Tuesday. The plan proposes the inclusion of all county roads in the state highway system and the abolition of road taxes.

Heavy artillery listed as opposition to this issue, which is backed by Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly and the administration, include Supervisor John R. Quinn of Los Angeles—one of Merriam's Republican primary gubernatorial rivals, State Controller Ray L. Riley and C. C. Cottrell of the California State Automobile Association.

Meanwhile Director Kelly, perusing book-keeping methods of tabulating county road funds, announces that the counties are permitted a 40 cent road tax against real estate and personal property, plus funds allotted to them from the state from the gas tax for construction and maintenance of their roads. In addition, he reports, counties have delved into their general funds for this purpose. More than $40,000,000 has been taken from the general funds during the five years between 1929 and 1933.

Just what this newly revealed fact will do toward bolstering the administration's case has not yet been determined.

Income Tax Favored

The first important tax measure to be considered by the Assembly, the income tax bill, has met with considerable favor. The senate revenue and taxation committee is also considering it.

Though the measure was formulated by the California Farm Bureau Federation, the rates are the same as in the one proposed by Merriam, and the favorable consideration it has received is hailed as an administration victory. It passed through the assembly revenue and taxation committee without opposition, being returned to the lower house floor.

Efforts of the State Board of Equalization to claim sponsorship of the bill were fruitless, that body taking a beating for their efforts. State Controller Ray L. Riley, equalization board chairman, does not think much of the measure.

Said he: "The rates proposed in this measure are the highest imposed on net incomes by any state in the Union. Such an excessive rate would have the effect of driving California residents who are not dependent upon income derived from sources in this state to declare their residence either in adjacent states or in states from which their principal income is derived. This, of course, would affect substantially the amount of revenue anticipated from the income tax."

The reason that the state board desires to tie itself up with the bill is that it would like to administer it, if passed. At present, collection will be placed in the hands of Charles J. McColgan, state franchise tax commissioner.

Little of the opposition which had lined up against the bill showed up at the hearing. One dissenting voice was heard in John Bryson, who represented the motion picture interests. He said that the levy would make California's the highest in the nation. Instead of raising only $17,500,000, he asserted that proposed rates would net the state something like $27,000,000 during the next biennium, due to increased incomes from improving conditions.

In propounding his tax measure, Merriam intimated that he hoped some of them will bring in more than estimated. Surpluses brought about by improving conditions will be painless and unopposed by the people and can be used to reduce the $29,000,000 state deficit. The governor made no provisions in his budget, it will be remembered, to eradicate this figure.

Another point that was voiced against the bill was that it might drive capital out of the state.

"This has not been the experience of other states," answers Von T. Ellsworth, representative of the Farm Bureau. "We feel that an income tax is absolutely necessary at this time."

Strongest opposition to this bill is expected from Epic Democrats, who would treble the sum proposed to be raised in a bill of their own.

Convention Held

Two important meetings were held in Sacramento last wek-end which, while political in character, were not directly connected with the legislature. One of them, however, has already affected that august body, and the other no doubt will, but more indirectly.

We refer, of course, to the Western Crime Conference and the California Republican Assembly convention.

The Crime Conference, attended by political and police leaders of the western states, objectives as summed up by instigator Merriam include:

1. Better California prisons.
2. Improved co-operation among counties, among states and with the federal government in halting crime.
3. Improved standards of personnel.
4. A strengthening of public opinion against crime.
5. Greater pride of peace officers in their calling.

The necessity of centralizing and consolidating police forces was brought out at the conference, a fact which is giving California's state police force proposal a considerable boost.

Just what effect the Republican call to arms will have on the Merriam administration, is debatable. The governor can be certain that progressive policies are right in style now and that a Republican administration which can carry out a successful program drawn along progressive lines is sure to win the approbation of political headquarters.

Another "political convention" has arrived at Sacramento—via borrowed transportation. One-thousand Technocrats, Epics and Utopians, an advance guard in politicial thought, have arrived here as a lobby group.

HARSH MEASURES WILL NOT CHECK INFLUX OF POOR

LOS ANGELES, March 28.—California's influx of dependent families cannot be halted by hostile and antagonistic measures but must be reduced through the betterment of living conditions in other parts of the country and by the allocation of relief on a somewhat even scale throughout the nation, according to the conclusions reached in a report today to H. A. R. Carleton, state director of the Federal Transient Service, submitted by Mrs. Dorothy Wysor Smith, Southern California social service consultant for the transient organization.

The report, based upon eighteen months of experience on the part of the Transient Service in caring for thousands of non-resident indigent families who have migrated to California, called attention to the problem the state is facing in handling the destitute who have come here from other sections of the country and outlined the relief system developed by the government to meet their needs and prevent their becoming a burden on the local community.

Neither the harsh treatment accorded transients in California prior to the advent here of the Transient Service nor the more humane methods now used in their care by the government have had the effect of either increasing or decreasing their influx, since such migration depended on conditions in their home communities rather than in California, Mrs. Smith asserted.

When it became impossible for a family to exist in its community on its own resources or on local relief, it was natural for the group to seek a new territory. Such conditions, plus California's well known climatic lure, have served to bring thousands to this state and will continue to do so no matter what treatment they may receive on their arrival here, the report stated.

STATE HEAD OF ELKS WILL VISIT NEVADA CO.

Milton R. Standish, president of the California Elks Association will be the guest at a luncheon which will be held in Grass Valley next Thursday. The luncheon will be a joint meeting of the Grass Valley and Nevada City lodges. R. B. Mueller of Susanville, vice president of the district is expected to be in attendance. Other state officers will attend.

COLLEGE STUDENT TRIES HAND AT GOLD PANNING

Philip Coughlan, whose father was raised at North Columbia and is an old friend of George Calanan, has been visiting at the Calanan home for the past few days. Young Coughlan is a student at Stanford University and returned there yesterday. While here he tried his hand at panning and took some gold back to college with him to show what is going on 'in them thar hills.'. A college chum of Coughlan's was also o guest of Mr. and Mrs. Calanan.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Haddy and two small daughters have returned from a several months stay in Tonopah, Nevada. Mr. Haddy is cleaning up and making changes in the former Coffee Cup Restaurant and plans to open a branch bakery shop carrying Freeman Bakery supplies from Grass Valley. He expects to have his shop ready in about ten days. Mr. Haddy will also have city delivery of bakery supplies.

STATE HUNTER KILLS 8 LIONS IN SIERRA CO.

Charles Ledshaw, state lion hunter, has had a most successful campaign against the mountain cats in the Downieville district during his stay in Downieville, his total kill up to and including Tuesday, March 19, being eight of the predators.

Ledshaw attributed his success largely to the fact that the heavy snows, had brought the lions down from the higher levels in pursuit of the herding deer, but these same snow conditions have made the task of tracking down the wary animals and bringing them to bag doubly difficult.

GRASS VALLEY TO VOTE ON LARGER COUNCIL

Peeved by charges that the Grass Valley city council ignored wishes of the voters in the recent petition for a change in the form of city government, the council has announced that the matter will be decided at the next general election. A number of advocates of the change said this will allow the present trustees to nearly complete their four-year term without the additional four members the petitioners wanted in the council.

UNION HOTEL FOUND TO HAVE CLEAR RECORD

Ed Filipelli, who conducts a boarding house near the Narrow Gauge depot, yesterday pleaded guilty to selling liquor without a state license and was fined $25 by Justice of the Peace Walter Mobley.

This concludes the disposition of several cases of liquor violation which were revealed following recent raids conducted by Sheriff Carl Tobiassen, aided by his deputies and state and federal authorities.

As a result of the raids the Union Hotel leasers were completely exonerated of violating any of the liquor laws. Unfortunately the owner of the property, who has nothing whatever to do with the hotel or its management since leasing it, was among those present at his home near the depot when the raiders called the roll of law violators. Under its leasers and managers the Union hotel has an excellent reputation.

Miss Beryl Godfrey, student at U. C. Berkeley, came as far as Sacramento Wednesday and was accompanied to Nevada City by her sisters, Mrs. Chessel and Mrs. Desscher, the latter two returning home after a short visit with her mother, Mrs. Annie Godfrey. Miss Godfrey will spend the week end here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brophy of North Columbia came over yesterday and proceeded to Grass Valley to attend the funeral of the late Miss Martha O'Connor, Mr. Brophy's cousin. On their return to North Columbia they were accompanied by Miss Gladys Ackerman of Norfolk, Virginia, who has been spending several weeks with her brother Elmer Woodruff at Grass Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Cassidy have returned from a motor trip of a week in different points of interest in southern California including Boulder Dam.

"BABBIT," "ENCHANTED APRIL" COME TO NEVADA THEATRE OVER WEEK END

Coming to the screen of the Nevada Theatre once more in an action epic that tops even the thrills of the first two of his Monogram series, Rex Bell and western star, will be seen today in "The Fugitive."

"The [illegible] stopping stop [illegible] agents [illegible] from a half million dollar mail robbery and bring [illegible] to justice. Following a trail of leads from a western penitentiary and over railroad lines, the investigators locate their men at last among the members of a gang of cattle rustlers which is terrorizing the cattle range.

"Babbit," Sinclair Lewis' best selling novel now produced in screen form, comes to the Nevada Theatre Saturday, with Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbee in the leading roles.

It depicts, in a colorful and picturesque way, the foibles of a fairly successful business man who is so convinced of his own shrewdness, that he falls an easy prey of a scheming banker and politician and later is played for a sucker by a designing widow who punctures his egoism and nearly causes his ruin.

Guy Kibbee has the title role with Aline MacMahon in the part of his wife who understands both his conceits and the warm heart underneath them. Claire Dodd has the role of the widow to whom Babbitt boasts of his financial acumen and who then blackmails him to the tune of $100,000.

The romantic roles are played by Glen Boles, as Babbitt's son, and Nan Gray, the boy's weetheart. Much of the comedy is provided by Babbitt's fellow Zebras. Harry Tyler, Alan Hale and Berton Churchill, the merry cut-ups of the lodge of which Babbitt is the ring master.

Ann Harding regains the love of an indifferent husband while spending an "Enchanted April" in her new starring role, which comes to the Nevada Theatre Sunday.

Written by "Elizabeth" and rated among the fifty most popular books in the last fifteen years, "Enchanted April" is said to serve as an ideal vehicle for Miss Harding's powerful acting talents. The story concerns a woman's awakening to the fact that her husband is drifting when he encounters the prosaic situation of success going to his head.

The wife's ensuing efforts to recapture her husband's love follows an unusual but interesting course, and the results will prove of especial interest to married men and women, it is believed.

"Enchanted April" stars Miss Harding at the head of a capable cast which includes Frank Morgan, Reginald Owen, Jane Baxter and Katherine Alexander. Harry Beaumont directed.

RIVAL MINE NINES TO CROSS BATS SUNDAY

The Idaho-Maryland and Empire-North Star baseball teams will cross bats Sunday at Watt Park in Grass Valley in the first game this season.

Tomorrow night a parade will be held on the city streets in Grass Valley to stir up enthusiasm in the game. A benefit dance will be held at the Memorial Auditorium following the parade.

The construction work on the grand stand was rushed this week and everything is expected to be in readiness for the game Sunday. The building of the grandstand and fence at the park was a community project with workers donating their ser-

DEER SLAYERS PREFER JAIL TO PAYING FINE

There was much discussion in Downieville yesterday regarding two men who had been previously convicted of the possession of deer meat and fined, or else—

They chose the jail sentence.

They presented themselves to the sheriff for incarceration but the officer refused them admittance to the bastile, because there were no commitment papers for them. Up to the time The Nugget reporter left Downieville they were still at large but it was anticipated that their wishes to go to jail would be gratified before evening.

RILEY OPPOSES BIG TAX BOOST

Riley, appearing before the senate revenue and taxation committee, warned against too steep an increase in the inheritance tax, lest wealth be driven from California.

Johnson fired a barrage at the legislation proposed by Governor Frank F. Merriam to boost the tax on insurance premiums, claiming that of the additional burden thrown upon California companies the state would receive only one-third, while the rest, because of retaliatory laws, would go to other states.

Riley offered a plan to increase this inheritance tax about $3,000,000 a year, while Senator Culbert Olson of Los Angeles county proposed an increase of $5,500,000.

Olson launched into a discussion of the necessity of taxing "unnecessarily accumulated and unspent wealth." He suggested if California should set up a high tax, other states would follow.

NOTICE OF CANDIDACY NOT FILED IN TIME

TAHOE CITY, March 28.—Because her notice of candidacy did not reach the board until after the legal filing time, Mrs. Viola M. Cowell of Tahoe City today announced she would be a write-in candidate for trustee of Placer Union school district, which includes a large area in this county.

Mrs. Cowell's declaration of intention was sent Mrs. Florence Hatch of Auburn, clerk of the district, by registered mail but the latter failed to call for the letter until after expiration of the date for filing had expired.

Mrs. Hatch said she had just received a letter from Henry Droste of Tahoe City announcing as candidate on the same time that Mrs. Cowell's letter arriver and, thinking the Cowell letter referred to the Droste letter, she did not call for it until five days after its arrival.

Three names will appear on the printed ballot—G. W. Bundage of Auburn, R. L. Tudsbury of Loomis and Droste. Brundage and Tudsbury are incumbents.

Telfer will be succeeded at the Grass Valley camp by Lieutenant Paul L. Phelan of Camp Bradley on the Fortsehill Divide.

LITTLE SISTER'S SPONGE CAKE

This recipe is for the little girl who "just loves" to help with the baking. If she will follow these directions exactly she will have a delicious sponge cake to present to the family at super time and can truthfully say: "I made it all by myself."

First see that the kitchen table is cleared for work, then get the ingredients read. (Ingredients means those articles such as flour, and sugar that you put into the cake.)

Next get the utensils ready. (Utensils means those things you use to work with, such as pans, bowls, etc.)

Ingredients

One cup cake flour.
One level teaspoon baking powder.
Three eggs.
One cup sugar.
Two teaspoons lemon juice.
Six tablespoons hot milk.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.

Utensils

Mixing bowl.
Mixing spoon.
Egg beater.
Measuring cup.
Teaspoon.
Tablespoon.
Flour sifter.
Cake pan.
Square of clean paper.

Cut a piece of clean paper to about the size of a large napkin. Sift some flour on to it, measure one cupful of this sifted flour and put the rest away. Add the baking powder and the salt to this sifted flour and sift two times more. (It is easy to pour the flour from the paper into the sifter.)

Put the eggs into a bowl and beat until thick and creamy. Add the sugar a little at a time and beat all the time as you add it. Add the lemon juice and beat some more. Then fold in some flour. (Ask mother how to "fold in the flour.") Add one tablespoon of the hot milk. Fold in some more flour and add another tablespoon of hot milk. Fold in more flour and add more milk until all the flour and milk has been used.

Turn this mixture into an ungreased tube pan. Bake in a moderate oven for about forty-five minutes. Stick a clean straw or a toothpick into it and if it is dry when you take it out the cake is done. If it comes out with cake mixture sticking to it it should be cooked a little longer.

When done turn the pan upside down until it is cool and it will then come out of the pan easily.

P. S. And don't forget to wash all the utensils you used and leave the table clean. Perhaps mother will then let you do it again.

TWO COMPANIES PUT TIMBER ON CROP BASIS

(By RALPH H. TAYLOR)

California agriculture has a new ally—virtually a new type of farmer—due to a changing order in the California Forest Protective Association.

Taking a leaf from the farmer's timber industry, according to S. Rexford Black, Secretary-Manager of the notebook, the timberman is placing his business on "a crop basis" and growing as he harvests.

And California, a pioneer in the movement, is leading the way for the entire nation, with every indication that the entire industry — at least in this state — will shortly achieve a sustained yeld basis.

Two California timber companies —the Fruit Growers Supply Company at Susanville and the Diamond Match Company at Chico—already have qualified under the new set-up, with new growth for last year equaling or exceeding their "cut." It is of special significance, incidentally, that the Fruit Growers Supply Company—one of the first lumber concerns to follow in the farmer's footsteps, is a subsidiary of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, the state's largest farm cooperative.

To the state and the nation, the new movement is of vast importance, for it marks the end of destructive logging operations and devastation, with a reasonable guarantee of an adequate timber supply for future generations.

And the trend toward sustained production in California's great timber areas also has particular importance for the California farmer, as it will check the stripping of watersheds, affording protection against winter flood and aiding nature in the storage of water for a summer supply.

Most important of all, it means that one of the state's great natural resources may be made a permanent resource and a permanent industry.

Secretary Black, in reporting on the new program, which has been carried on under President Roosevelt's Lumber Code Authority, points out that reforestation does not necessarily imply the planting of trees. This method, he says, is followed only when lands have been denuded by fire or disaster.

"Nature takes care of the planting if the new growth is given proper protection," explains Black. "The lumber companies are achieving a sustained yield basis by selective logging methods—cutting only the larger trees—and intensive fire protection to guard the young growth left standing."

Of interest to farmers, in the light of the present revolutionary program in forestry, is the effort in the state legislature to place a state severance tax on timber. The severance tax is advanced on the theory that industries which drain natural resources of the country, such as oil, gold and timber, should pay a special tax. But with timber on "a crop basis," similar to the farmer's crops, the application of the severance levy to the timber industry takes on new significance.

Regardless of the final decision on this point, it is undoubtedly true that the California timber industry, during recent years, has had virtually as hard a fight for survival as the agricultural industry.

And it certainly deserves every encouragement in the new move to insure an adequate timber supply for the future.

TEN PCT. CUT IN STREET LIGHTING RATE TO SAVE NEV. CITY $300 YEARLY

An annual saving of $300.96 will be realized by Nevada City from the reduction of approximately ten per cent in street lighting rates recently announced by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

H. S. Furlong, sales manager of the Drum Division of the utility company with headquarters at Auburn, has notified the city council that the new lower schedule will decrease Nevada City's street lighting bills in this amount for the year. The estimate is made on the basis of the number of lamps now in service.

The reduction in rates applies to all company owned street and highway lighting systems within incorporated areas throughout P. G. and E. territory. It become effective on March first.
